

Making Kaya work for your organisation

Develop bespoke learning spaces using the Kaya learning platform

Our learning platform - Kaya - hosts hundreds of courses in multiple languages, giving thousands of users access to free humanitarian learning. In addition to the free content that we offer to individuals, we can also support your organisation to curate, create and share high quality learning opportunities that meet your organisation's specific requirements.

The need for humanitarian learning

As the frequency and complexity of humanitarian crises continue to rise, there is increasing demand for a highly skilled workforce capable of preparing for and responding more effectively and efficiently to disasters. For organisations involved in humanitarian preparedness and response, investing in learning and the development of staff and volunteers has become an urgent necessity.

The benefits of curating, creating and sharing learning for your organisation

Built on the Academy's learning platform, Kaya, our products allow organisations to develop bespoke learning spaces that provide a wide range of humanitarian, development and cross-functional skills content which meet their specific requirements. Hosted content can be curated from the Academy's existing catalogue that features hundreds of online learning resources, covering a wide range of humanitarian topics shared from international and national partners. In addition, organisations have the ability to create and share their own learning opportunities within these spaces.

"Whether you want to give your staff better access to quality learning opportunities or simply make your own e-learning content more widely available, we have something to suit your organisation's specific needs."
