

Mental Health and Psychosocial Wellbeing of Adolescents Affected by Conflict course

This course is designed for practitioners who work on programmes that target or include adolescents and their caregivers affected by the war in Ukraine.

It aims to increase your understanding of adolescent development, focusing on their mental health and psychosocial wellbeing.

Who is this course for?

This course is for practitioners working on programmes for and with adolescents and their caregivers affected by the war in Ukraine. It may also be useful for programme managers to develop and deliver programmes of high quality.

At the end of this course, you will be able to:

- Describe some challenges and risks adolescents and caregivers face in conflict settings.
- Identify appropriate methods of supporting adolescents and caregivers.
- Recognise practical tools on how to support adolescents and caregivers in conflict settings.
